

Absconder King Will Throw Himself Upon Mercy of the Court

into Chicago. A lapse of about a week occurs when it was reported that he was seen upon the streets of New York with his mustache entirely shaved off. He was next traced to Philadelphia. In St. Louis, a book agent, the police learned today King had been in the city, but the constant fear of detection which haunted him throughout his travels drove him to a last ditch effort and only landed him in Van Nuys, B. C., where he was arrested by Canadian authorities and only escaped capture through his own suspicion of "shadow" but upon his trial he returned to Chicago and New York.

When it was stated that Attorney King had been making a living as a book agent his local friends wondered how he came to go into the business. Those who were intimate with him in the old days, however, regarded it as the most natural course for him to pursue. Attorney King always has been a great reader. He is familiar with the works of the best authors and when he was suddenly confronted with the problem of making a living he tried to get a position as book agent. He secured a place with Dodd, Mead & Co., prominent New York publishers, to represent them as agent in Western territory. He had a contract by which he was to receive a small salary and commission on all books he sold. The publishers were to publish special editions of favorite authors and the lawyer undertook to sell these editions. It is said that he met with considerable success.

After Sheriff Pease had learned that the message from Attorney King late yesterday afternoon came as a surprise. The sheriff was at his home in Fairfield when the lawyer telephoned from New York to the jail. Attorney King talked with Deputy Jailer D. E. O'Neill and asked him to have the sheriff meet the 8:37 train from New York. In case Sheriff Pease could not be on hand the lawyer asked that Deputy Sheriff Thomas J. Cunningham be sent.

Word was then sent to Attorney King and to members of the King family. Attorney Gray, Sheriff Pease and Marshall Thompson, of the lawyer, came to the station where the train arrived. After brief greetings the party hurried to an automobile in which the lawyer was rushed to the county jail. No one at the station appeared to recognize the man who was with the fleeing bird.

The trip to the jail was not marked by much conversation. Attorney King did not say much about his absence except to remark that he had travelled considerably and was glad to be back. He said his health was fairly good.

It is about two weeks since Attorney King caused a sensation by his sudden flight. The sheriff's office was closely upon certain disclosures which seemed to indicate that the lawyer had been guilty of irregular dealing in real estate transactions.

The two counts upon which the bench warrant was issued, concerned two alleged forged endorsements on mortgage deeds. One of these was a deed given by Frank Baum of Fairfield to Samuel Keeler of Ridgefield in return for a loan of $1,000. Baum declared afterward that the endorsement was not his. The other count was a forged endorsement on a mortgage given by former Postmaster E. W. S. Pickett and Attorney King to Samuel Keeler. The amount in this case was $1,000.

Other persons who had business transactions with the lawyer said he had misappropriated funds and those charged claimed the total of his shortage to increase.

A few weeks ago the grievance committee of the Fairfield County Bar filed a petition in the superior court asking that Attorney King be ordered to appear and show cause why he should not be disbarred. The same charges mentioned in the bench warrant were cited. This petition was in this week's assignment list, but the superior court but was not reached.

ALLIES LOSE ALL HOPE OF HELP FROM GREECE

London, Nov. 6.—Any hope which the allies may have entertained that the friendly neutrality of Greece might be converted into something more positive in their favor seems to have been dispelled by the news from Athens. It is reported Premier Zaimis has consented to reconstruct the cabinet and that the chamber of deputies will be dissolved. Additional details were received today from Serbian sources concerning the victory which the Serbians say they have won over the Bulgarians at Javur, situated at the entrance to Babunt Pass, in the southern section of the country. British cavalry and French infantry are said to have taken part in the battle. If it is true that the Bulgarians were routed and were in full flight for Velles, the safety of Prilep and Monastir is assured for the present and they way to Uskup may be paved.

The Bulgarians are within a short distance of Nish. According to one account, they have actually penetrated the city. Their Austro-German allies have reached Banat, an important junction point on the eastern Danube railroad, northeast of Nish, about 50 miles. The fortunes of war are showing the customary fluctuations along eastern front. Vienna asserts that the Russian thrust along the Carpathians has been repulsed completely. 2,000 men being captured.

Petrograd asserts that the attack of the invaders west of Dvinsk was beaten back with 1,000 of their dead. The defense of Riga, the Russian troops are now assisted by warships, which have been shelling German positions at Schlok.

The morning newspapers of London devote considerable space to the war office affairs but beyond the statement that Premier Zaimis is in charge temporarily, no authoritative announcement has been given out.

STRIKERS PLAY HURDY-GURDY TO HELP COMRADES

Pete Wilson, Crack Pitcher, Grinds Out Tunes on Bridgeport Streets.

Pete Wilson, former star pitcher of the Yankees, is playing a hurdy-gurdy in the streets of Bridgeport for the cause of the Pratt & Whitney (Hartford) strikers.

Wilson, well known in Bridgeport where he formerly played ball on the Sacred Heart team said today: "The Pratt & Whitney strikers now number 2,300. About 700 of this number have been sent to Bridgeport through the efforts of the A. of M. We expect to send many hundreds here from other factories, as the Hartford Manufacturers' Association has taken an active part in trying to defeat us. We will give Hartford a little taste of what we term the 'absent treatment.'"

As the machinist in that city gets but an average wage of 30 cents per hour and as much better wages are here for all the experts it is an easy matter to induce them to come to Bridgeport and it will be difficult for Hartford to again gain its industrial footing when the absent brothers fail to respond to the return call when the battle is over.

"There are many families of strikers in Hartford who are in want and it is for this reason that I came to this city with A. W. Robinson as a committee to raise funds for their support. We have undertaken the hurdy-gurdy campaign and the police officials have granted us a permit without any difficulties. I cannot speak too highly of the loyal attitude to labor by the officials and newspapers in Bridgeport."

Patrick Lynch, arrested for train-riding in the South End freight yards today, told Judge Bartlett in the city court a very interesting story of a trip to Europe on a cattle steamer and a hurried exit from Bordeaux, France, when the German almanen began to drop bombs in the town. He said he worked his passage back to the United States but was broke when he got here. As the Boston common is a long walk from New York city he decided to ride on a freight train. The Sound of Shrapnel. Have you ever heard shrapnel as it whizzed through the air like a winter gale howling through the branches of a pine tree. It is a moan, a groan, a shriek and a wail rolled into one, and when the explosion comes it sounds as though some one had touched off a stick of dynamite under a grand piano, and it is not particularly cheering to find that the ones you hear do no harm you and that it is the ones you do not have time to hear that send you to the cemetery.—E. ## Light blanket is warmer.

No foundation at all for the once-general belief that weight made warmth.

Lighter blankets are always warmer—because they are finer of quality and of weave.

A blanket, after all, is only a cushion to prevent the escape of heat from whoever snuggles down beneath it. The closer-woven and the finer that cushion is, the greater warmth it will guarantee.

Blanket of wool gives most warmth. Blanket of fine cotton is efficient. Blanket with a warp of fine cotton and filling of wool is, possibly the best—because it combines the warmth of wool with the strength of cotton. It is not so liable to shrink as the pure wool either; goes through the laundry satisfactorily.

Both sorts ready in several sizes, finished with attractive colored borders. Some are cut and bound singly; most are woven with the two blankets joined—for majority of folks believe them warmer.

Cotton, 64 by 78 inches—$2	Part-wool, 66 by 80 inches—$3
Cotton, 70 by 82 inches—$2.50	Part-wool, 72 by 80 inches—$3.50
Part-wool, 72 by 82 inches—$4	Fancy border, 72 by 84 inches—$5
Single style, 72 by 84 inches—$5.50	Special finish, 72 by 82—$6
Fine white, single style—$6	Soft gray, 66 by 80—$3.50
Fine gray, 70 by 80—$5	Gray part-wool, 70 by 80—$6

Comfortables with good looks & warmth.

A handsome sateen in pretty figures is used to cover comfortables filled with down; light as the traditional feather.

All around the edge is a border of plain sateen in pink or blue. This only makes the figured center prettier.

And how light and warm the comfortables are. $7.

Sateen, too, covers other comfortables filled with soft fleecy wool. These are light of effect, are figured all over, are both sides figured. Wool-fleece filling makes them sure providers of warmth. And they weigh very little.

$4 and $5

A dozen different sizes and patterns of cotton-filled comfortables. Some large, some small; some covered with sateen and some with silkolene.

Light or dark in color and in figured all-over patterns. $1 to $3.50.
